

Murder in Play

The action takes place in the Library of Priorswell Manor

Act 1 A Summer afternoon

Interval: Refreshments available in the small hall

Act 2 Scene 1 Six days later
Scene 2 The next morning

Boris Smolensky's budget repertory production of Murder at Priorswell Manor is looking decidedly shaky. The cast are more interested in their egos than the play; life imitates art when one of the cast is murdered on stage during rehearsal. The hilarious text employs a play-within-a-play device to ruthlessly satirise the politics of the inept company and several red herrings should keep you guessing until the final moments of the action.

Richard and Barry, our production team, have cast familiar faces with faces not-so-familiar, including Val Coates and Marion Biram who we wish well as they make their debuts.

There will be a raffle at each performance in support of Christian Aid

For more than 60 years Christian Aid has fought poverty, strengthened the poor, and turned hope into action. The 21st century has brought new challenges to Christian Aid. The so-called war on terror, climate change, the increasing number of natural disasters, and the fact that almost half the world's population lives on less than US$2 a day means our work is needed more than ever.
